Simple adapter, that makes it possible to have position lights in the indicator lamp, that is placed on the doors. The indicator lamp will be turned on with the other position lights, but with dimmed brightness. When the truck then indicates, the lamp will light up at full brightness.

The lamp is disconnected from the original connector, and the adapter is put in between. The long 5m wire is then connected to the position light on the truck.

The adapter uses original connectors, and the controller is potted. We need to point out, that it is only the indicator light that is still E-approved and not for position light too.
